Secretary Dulles Tells Senate Committee: REDS JUNKING VIOLENCE GREED

—Pushed By Gale-Velocity Wind—

Howling Dust Storm Blacks Southwest Skies, Kills Four

DALLAS (AP) — The worst dust storm of the season blanketed west Texas Friday, pushed by winds of gale velocity. The dust blacked out skies and cut visibility to zero at some places. At least four persons were killed in traffic crashes in the southwest as a direct result of the dust.

Scores of traffic accidents occurred. Winds, ranging up to 68 miles per hour, caused a jet airplane to crash, tore shingles off roofs of houses under construction, blew down trees and power lines. The Weather Bureau said the dust storm moved from Arizona through New Mexico and across the northwest part of Texas through Oklahoma and Kansas. The Highway Patrol said travel was extremely hazardous but no roads were closed officially. Visibility was limited to less than one mile at Dalhart, Amarillo, Lubbock, Childress, El Paso, Midland and Big Spring in late afternoon. A Texoma, Okla., man, Buck

Bonds, was killed when he drove his car into the back end of a truck. The accident happened near Spearman, Tex. A Perryton, Tex., man, William Claude Tennison, 57, was killed in Beaver County, Oklahoma, in another accident related to the dust storm. Carl F. White, 20, and Elvis Allen Flesher, 36, both of Liberal, Kan., also were killed. One pileup in Amarillo involved seven automobiles but there were no major injuries.

Dulles Gets Out Of The Heat

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles spreads out in a chair on the sidelines at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing in Washington. He was at the witness table with Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., but when the latter started testifying retired to this seat, remarking that he wanted to get out of the heat. He was referring to warmth from the big lights, set up in the Senate Office building caucus room for movie photography. (AP Wirephoto)

Russ Trying 'Our System'

Cabinet Officer Defends Shipment Of Tanks To Saudi Arabia; World Report Optimistic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles said Friday the Russians are junking a 30-year policy of violence and intolerance and "bringing their system and habits closer to ours."

He took the stand that Moscow, while still aiming at world domination, has been forced to make a big change in methods because of the "unity, firmness and determination of the free world."

Dulles made the assertions to an overflow audience at a "back to bipartisanship" hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Stoutly defending the recent shipment of 18 light tanks to Saudi Arabia, Dulles gave a generally optimistic review of world affairs — highlighted by his statement that the Soviet Union is developing "at this minute in Moscow" a new "creed."

Trying "Our Game"

"They have come to the conclusion," he said, "that our methods are better than theirs. They are trying to play our game. I am sure we can beat them at that game. If we can't, then we ought to be ashamed of ourselves."

On the whole, Dulles declared, such a shift in Soviet policy — he called it an "imitation" of American methods — stands to benefit the free world. And he said the Kremlin may have set in motion "irresistible forces" that will foment "the yeast of change" in Russia's government.

Several Democrats, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) among them, voiced pointed skepticism both at Dulles' hopeful view of the world situation and at his defense of the Saudi Arabian tank deal.

Dulles' answer, in effect: They were playing politics. He said he can look at the calendar and see what year it is — election year — and suspects a good many other people do the same.

Lengthy Session

So the long-drawn-out session may or may not have justified the announced hope of Chairman George (D-Ga.) that it would help get foreign policy bipartisanship back on the rails. But it attracted the most attention and the biggest crowd of any committee session in months.

Dulles made it plain he doesn't think the Soviets have given up their aim of getting the whole world under their thumb. And he said the free nations must guard steadily against a Soviet swing back toward a policy of violence.

The 3½-hour hearing ended on a not-too-bipartisan note.

Hot Car

An auto, apparently stolen, was found by police early Saturday morning against a tree in Antelope Park at 23rd and O. The owner, much to the thief's dismay if he is caught, was District Judge Harry R. Ankeny.

Possible Power Split Patch Seen

... At NREA Meeting

A reconciliation move to bring Nebraska's two rural power associations together after being split for over a year may be closer Sunday to patching the differences between the groups.

If the directors of the Nebraska Rural Electric Assn. approve proposed by-laws and articles at a meeting scheduled Sunday night as part of the annual convention, then the way would presumably be cleared to bring the split Rural Power Assn. back into the NREA fold.

The move, started last September when a committee was appointed from both groups, resulted in the draft of new articles of incorporation and by-laws.

The NREA formerly embraced all Nebraska's rural districts, but 14 districts split over controversy of who should build a new steam generating plant — the Nebraska Public Power System or Consumers Public Power District.

If the proposed changes win final approval Sunday then the tenure of NREA Executive Secretary John Clema of Lincoln would be ended. One by-law stipulates that no executive secretary of the re-organized group shall be a past or present manager of a Nebraska rural system. Clema is manager of Custer Public Power District at Broken Bow.

Ancher Nelson, REA Administrator from Washington, D.C., will fly to Lincoln Sunday for the meeting. He will speak at a Monday noon luncheon. Dean W. V. Lambert of the College of Agriculture will appear on the program Monday evening and Brig. Gen. W. E. Potter, Missouri River Division engineer will speak Tuesday.

Most Roads Hazardous As Snow Hits

Snow—ranging from a light to a heavy fall—was reported over the whole state late Friday night. Lincoln had a moderate snowfall and cold temperatures that combined to recreate wintery conditions in the Capital City. Wet streets, which had remained safe during recent above freezing weather, became hazardous with the drop in the mercury and a topping of snow.

Weather observers said the snow fell over most of Nebraska. Visibility at some points was reported low. Snow stopped by midnight over most of the state.

Highways, too, became more dangerous. Icy or snow-packed highways prevailed over the central, west and northwest, said the State Safety Patrol. Grand Island observers said highways were icy in that area, too.

Grand Island was one of the points reporting heavy snow. Cloudy weather and high temperatures from 25 to 30 in the east to near 40 in the west were predicted for Nebraska Saturday, by the Weather Bureau.

The western half of the state reported a moderate snow fall Friday afternoon. Imperial had the state high mercury reading of 38 Friday. Grand Island reported the low of 20. Lincoln had a high of 35 and a low of 32.

Partly cloudy and colder weather in the eastern part of the state was forecast for Saturday night.

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

(The tenth chapter in The Star's Lenten series.)

By APRIL OURSLER ARMSTRONG

After His forty days in the desert, Jesus walked by the River Jordan. On a low hill He came face to face with that giant John, called the Baptist. The Baptist threw out his arms in greeting, and murmured:

"Behold! Here is He who takes away the sins of the world! This is the Son of God!"

That day and others Jesus lingered, listening to John's speeches, and talking with him in lonely walks at night. Men from all over the country were coming to hear John the Baptist. The crowds by the river were great.

One bright morning there stood in the crowd two fishermen from the North, Andrew, a sturdy man with a head for business, and John, a good-looking, stormy young man. "Fishermen from Galilee?" the Baptist asked. "Why did you travel this long way?"

Andrew answered. "We earn little money. We cannot even afford to eat the fish we catch. A dog's life is better than ours. Someone told us you had the secret of a happy life. So we tried you."

The Baptist, in his ragged clothes, pointed over their shoulders to where Jesus walked alone. "This is the Son of God! If you hope to find the true meaning of life, and the secret of happiness—follow Him!"

Andrew and John hurried after the tall, lithe figure of Jesus, who was already walking down the sunlit street. Jesus slowed down, then faced them. He laid a hand on Andrew's shoulder, and smiled at John.

Jesus explained He was planning to travel all over Palestine talking to all the people who had problems and unhappiness, like Andrew and John. He would need helpers. But He wanted only men who would stay with Him, who understood Him, and believed what He said. "Master," they said. "Show us Where You live and we will go there with You right now!"

Jesus led the way to His lodgings in a hut outside town, and taught them. Day and night passed as they listened, asked questions, (Continued on Page 4.)

Jesus put a friendly arm around Nathaniel. "Because I said I saw you under a fig tree, you believe! Greater things than this you shall see."

Grace Kelly Is 'Sorry' About Small Guest List

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Grace Kelly admitted Friday many people will be angry at not being invited to her wedding. But, she sighed, "What can I do?"

For the first time, the future princess of Monaco gave a run-down on the events of what is shaping up as one of the most notable weddings of the century. One of her principal problems, she said in an exclusive interview, is the guest list.

"The cathedral in which the prince and I will be married holds only 400. Already we have had requests from over 500 journalists who would like to attend. Obviously we can't accommodate everyone."

'Understand'

"Some of my friends understand. When I asked Carolyn Reynolds to be a bridesmaid, she said she had thought she might not be invited. Some friends from Nice had told her how small the cathedral is."

Except for a handful of intimates she will invite, the invitation list will be handled by the Monaco authorities, she said. She will send announcements to other friends and associates.

Grace, who was comfortably dressed in tan slacks and blouse and wore glasses, said her future schedule is pretty well worked out. She expects to finish "High Society" and leave Hollywood about March 15. She'll spend a couple of weeks shopping in New York, but not only for last-minute details.

"I haven't even done the first-minute details," she smiled.

'Special Stop'

She sails with her family aboard the S. S. Constitution on April 4, arriving at Monaco April 12. "The Constitution is making a special stop there," Grace explained. "It will remain outside the harbor and the prince will come out to get us in his yacht."

The next few days, she said, would be taken up with receptions and final arrangements for the wedding.

"The civil ceremony will take place in the palace on the morning of the 18th," she reported. "It will be quite short and will be attended only by members of our families. Afterwards, there will be a

50 Injured As Train Jars To Quick Stop

BOSTON (AP)—Some 50 persons were injured Friday night when a Boston & Maine 12-car train was suddenly stopped as it neared North Station.

None of the injured was reported seriously hurt.

This sudden stop was caused, police said, when a passenger in car No. 9 pulled the emergency cord about a quarter of a mile from the station.

Passengers were tossed "about like ten pins," one witness said, as the long train came to a jarring halt.

Some six ambulances were summoned to take the injured to hospitals.

Most of the injured were in the last four cars.

By VIRGIL FALLOON Star Staff Writer

Dr. Douglas M. Kelley, University of California criminologist and psychiatrist engaged by defense attorneys, said Friday night that Darrel F. Parker made a "false confession" and "does not have guilty knowledge" of the strangulation-slaying of his wife, Nancy Parker.

Parker, charged with the first-degree strangulation murder in the Dec. 14 death of his wife, was given lie detector tests and a psychiatric examination early Friday by Dr. Kelley.

Dr. Kelley said in an exclusive interview with The Star following the examination that, "In my opinion after examining the boy (Parker) he made a false confession and does not have the guilty knowledge of the crime that the perpetrator of the crime must have."

'Immature, Putty-Like'

Dr. Kelley said Parker has good average intelligence, but is emotionally immature. "He has an immature, passive personality and is putty-like to suggestions when emotionally upset," the criminologist stated.

Dr. Kelley, professor of criminology at the University of California since 1949, teaches the psychiatric aspects of crime and criminal interrogation and lie detection. During World War II, he was chief consulting psychologist and assistant psychiatrist for the U.S. Army in Europe and later was chief psychiatrist for the Allied War Crimes Council during the Neurenberg trials. His degrees include doctor of medicine and doctor of medical science.

Examination Explained

He explained the psychiatric examination in conjunction with the lie detector test this way:

"The lie detector test (made with a Stollter polygraph) showed no evidence of guilt reaction in this (Parker's) case."

"To me, the psychiatric side is equally important, because while the lie detector demonstrates his innocence, an understanding of his personality make-up explains to my satisfaction why he burst forth with a false confession."

(Parker's reported confession was obtained by Criminologist John E. Reid of Chicago on Dec. 21 following lie detector tests and interrogation.)

"Parker is the type of person,"

Dr. Kelley continued, "who could be induced to give such a confession rather simply. From my psychiatric evaluation and findings on the lie detector, it is my opinion this is what happened in this case."

When contacted about Dr. Kelley's disclosures, Co. Atty Elmer Scheele said "We are going to try this case in court under properly prescribed rules of evidence."

The attorney declined further comment.

Dr. Kelley was asked to explain why Parker would confess to something he now says he didn't do in less than eight hours of lie detector tests and interrogation.

Dr. Kelley stated that Parker is the type of individual who "can be talked into a false confession in much less time than the average person, and in even less time in view of the emotional strain he had been under the previous week (the period immediately following his wife's death)."

Stressing Parker's personality make-up from the psychiatrist's view, Dr. Kelley said Parker "could not have killed his wife and then shown no signs of emotional disturbance during the remainder of the morning."

Dr. Kelley said he found no psychotic tendencies in his examination of Parker.

The examination was conducted from "10 a.m. to about 3:30 p.m." by Dr. Kelley at Bailey's Sanatorium, where Parker was taken from his Penitentiary cell.

Dr. Kelley returned to Berkeley, Calif., later Friday night.

When contacted, Defense Attorney Max Towle of Lincoln said he "was pleased with Dr. Kelley's report of the examinations. I have every confidence that the boy didn't commit the crime."

The criminologist said it was his opinion that the "investigation of the case should be re-opened and all available information and clues re-checked."

Burglar Slips Through Net With $1,500 In Cash, Goods At Ted Franks County Home

A house burglar — trapped by homeowners Mr. and Mrs. Ted R. Franks of 7800 A — slipped out a basement window to elude the couple Friday night. He took $1,500 in cash and personal property with him.

The Franks had just arrived home from a five week vacation in Palm Springs, Calif., and upon entering their home discovered a man in the bedroom.

The couple backed out of the room, called police, and retreated to their car. They kept the headlights of the car on the house to prevent the burglar from escaping unnoticed.

Three Lincoln Police cruisers dispatched to the home immediately surrounded it but could find no trace of the burglar, who had apparently escaped through a basement window.

Saw Car

Franks said they had seen an old model car parked with its lights on several blocks east of the home while they were waiting for the police. In the confusion after police arrived, Franks said the car drove away unnoticed.

Franks said his wife saw a man try to crawl under the bed in the bedroom.

"I told her to shoot the first man she saw," Franks said.

He explained his wife had no gun, but that he shouted the direction in order to scare the burglar. It was then the man ran, Franks added.

The loot from the swank new country home included $173 in cash, a $425 watch and a $50 watch, five men's suits, a lady's coat and suit, a bedspread and some liquor.

Franks said law enforcement officials theorized that the burglar wrapped the stolen loot in the bedspread and carried it off.

The victim of the burglary said the cash was in the pocket of an old suit.

Entrance was gained, he said, by breaking through the rear garage door and the rear door to the kitchen.

(Two burglars early Friday held two women at bay in their apartment and robbed them. See Story on Page 3.)

Malenkov Under Fire Again

Electricity Output Lag Is Charged

By Red Planning Boss

MOSCOW (AP) — The boss of Soviet state planning sharply criticized former Premier Georgi M. Malenkov's Ministry of Electric power stations Friday for dragging its feet on putting new equipment into operation.

"The Ministry of Electric Power Stations is procrastinating too much with putting into operation new equipment and electric stations," alone.

This was the first high-level criticism of the ministry since Malenkov took over just a year ago, after he declared himself inept in the premiership and resigned. The article revived speculation about the future of Malenkov, who succeeded Stalin in 1953.

Goes Down The Line
Malenkov already has spoken in the current 20th Soviet Communist party Congress. He went down the line for the policy laid down by party boss N. S. Khrushchev, including the concept of all-out priority for the development of heavy industry over consumer goods. Malenkov's name has been identified in the past with an attempt to give priority to consumer goods.

Although Malenkov sat with the ruling party Presidium during the Congress, and to all outward appearances remained a member of the "collective leadership," the criticism of his ministry by Saburov, head of the State Planning Commission, stirred curiosity concerning Malenkov's actual role at the moment.

RAILROAD SAYS BROKEN AXLE CAUSED WRECK

ODENTON, Md. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Railroad said Friday an axle which unaccountably broke caused the derailment of the Embassy passenger train in which five persons were killed and more than 100 injured.

The 14-car train was speeding at 80 miles per hour over the flatlands between Baltimore and Washington when the accident happened.

J. A. Schwab, regional manager for Pennsylvania Railroad, said the roller bearing journal where the axle broke was inspected for oil level and lubrication in Sunnyside Yard, New York, just four days before the accident, and was checked in normal inspection in Washington before the train left.

CPPD Defers Action On Power Purchase Contract

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — Consumer Public Power District's board of directors took no action Friday at their regular meeting on a contract for purchase of power from the proposed Tri-County 100,000 kilovolt plant at Lexington.

Consumers General Manager R. L. Schacht explained that copies of Tri-County's proposed bond contract for financing of the plant were not yet available.

The Consumers board, anticipating the details will be ironed out by end of next week, will hold a special meeting March 2 to discuss the power purchase contract.

Looks Go With The Books

Lyndi Gerbeling, clerk in the Police Department traffic office, will take over soon the job of librarian for books being accumulated for city policemen. The books, dealing with facets of criminal investigation, traffic problems and control, and juvenile delinquency, will form a newly established personal library in the department. (Star Staff Photo.)

POLICE PLAN LIBRARY FOR OFFICERS' USE

If city policemen in the future gradually take on a "book-look," it's part of a plan now being worked out.

The plan involves a private lending library being built up for use by policemen. The idea belongs to Capt. Orren Graves in the traffic division as part of a general enforcement education program.

The captain, a heavy book-reader himself, explains that making books readily available to policemen will step up interest in reading and provide an easily accessible information source.

Capt. Graves found enthusiasm in the idea from Charles Dalrymple, city library director, who offered the assistance of city library resources in providing tomes to the police department's volumes.

The major areas of interest in the books will be traffic, criminal investigation, and juvenile delinquency. Capt. Graves points out. Other related fields, however, will be accepted.

The captain says he would welcome gifts of books from the citizens in helping establish a nucleus of books dealing with law enforcement.

Jury Indicts Ellsworth Pals

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A grand jury Friday indicted two former Tulsa, Okla., policemen for murder in connection with the robbing and killing of Mrs. Lulubel H. Rossman, a wealthy widow, in a midtown hotel here last July.

Those indicted are Gus Alfred Demoss, 47, one-time radio dispatcher for the Tulsa police department, and Robert W. Thomas, 48, of Miami, also a former member of the Tulsa police force and at one time a deputy sheriff of Dade County, Fla.

Both men already have been indicted by a federal grand jury here, charged with transporting stolen money.

Two others, Frank J. Ellsworth of Omaha, and Raymond P. Wilson, are under indictment accused of killing the 76-year-old woman, and transporting stolen money.

Senators Plan Prompt Election Laws Reforms

... In Advance Of This Year's Campaigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders announced plans Friday to reform the election laws in advance of the presidential and congressional campaigns this year.

Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.) said one aim of the legislation is to put political contributions "in a goldfish bowl," for all the voters to see.

He indicated, however, that the bill would apply only to elections, not primary campaigns.

"We're going to have a strong elections bill this session," Johnson said.

Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.) told newsmen:

Action Urged
"I think some changes can be made to improve the election situation. I would like to see something accomplished before the 1956 elections."

Johnson said the leadership was not trying to steal the thunder of the special committee of eight senators appointed Thursday to investigate political pressures, lobbying and campaign contributions. It will be some time before the special group makes any recommendations, and the leaders obviously want something in the works right away.

The bipartisan legislation now being drafted, Johnson said, can be revised to meet any needs brought to light in the lobbying investigation.

'Stringent'

He said the proposed bill will provide "stringent" requirements for the reporting of campaign contributions. It will also provide federal tax exemption for up to $100 of individual political contributions. The idea of this is to encourage more people to make comparatively small donations and thus broaden financial participation in election campaigns.

Kearney Escapees Captured In Wild California Chase

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Two 17-year-olds who said they escaped Feb. 20 from the Kearney, Neb., Reformatory were captured Friday after a police chase at speeds up to 100 miles an hour.

Officers peppered the back of their car with shotgun pellets during the chase. Held on suspicion of transporting a stolen car across state lines were Robert Mulford, Ewing, Neb., and Dale Carston, Norfolk, Neb.

Four police cars were in the chase on U. S. Highway 101 between Montecito and Ventura. Officers said it started after the youths drove away from a service station without paying for $5 worth of gasoline.

Karl Arndt's Burial Set For California

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The body of Karl Arndt, 54, former top staff man on the White House Council of Economic Advisers, was flown to Okinawa Friday for transshipment to the United States.

Arndt, who died here Wednesday, is to be buried in Pasadena, Calif., where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arndt, live.

Arndt, who was assistant director for economic development of the National Co-operation Administration on Formosa, entered a hospital here Monday for treatment for an attack of gastric ulcers.

Doctors thought he was rallying but he died Wednesday afternoon of heart failure attributed to the general weakening of his body.

A graduate of Notre Dame University, Arndt served as professor of economics at the University of Nebraska for 24 years. He previously held similar posts at Canisius College, Buffalo, N. Y., and Creighton University, Omaha, Neb.

Business Up At Western Electric Co.

In its annual report to its stockholders, Western Electric Co. said it increased its delivery of products and services to its customers by 21 per cent during the year 1955.

With output of dial switching equipment for central telephone offices 52 per cent above the previous year and deliveries of telephones 48 per cent higher than in 1954, the firm, which has locations in Lincoln and Omaha, produced one and one-quarter million color telephone sets.

A new process by which telephone calls will be routed by electronic means rather than the present relays and switches is being developed by company engineers, the report said. About 16 per cent of the company's employees were working on government military contracts.

Sales in 1955 amounted to $1,853,299,000, an increase of about 21 per cent over 1954. Of total sales, 66 per cent or $1,230,915,000 were to Bell Telephone System companies. Last year Bell sales amounted to $1,019,279,000.

During 1955 earnings totaled $63,340,000 which equaled 3.4 cents per dollar of sales. Dividend payments during 1955 were $3.45 per share, totaling $42,966,000 and leaving approximately $20,374,000 to be invested in the business.

The retirement of Stanley Bracken on March 31, 1955, as chairman of the board, was announced in the report. Dr. Bracken, a native of Blair, graduated from the University of Nebraska in 1912 and received an honorary doctor of engineering degree in 1944. He was president of Western Electric from 1947 until 1953.

Mystery Boy Believed Son Of Missing Couple

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (INS) — Police and hospital authorities in Pottsville expressed belief Friday that a small boy found abandoned in New Mexico last Monday is the son of a Marshallton, Del., couple whose whereabouts is unknown.

Schuykill County Detective Chief William Keuch tentatively identified the youngster as three-year-old James Trout, son of Carl and Sara Trout.

He said the Trout boy's grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Trout, of a deformed left leg and scars on his fingers.

Keuch said he understood the child's parents had left him in a Baltimore home before starting on a Florida vacation. Police are seeking the Trouts throughout the South, he added.

Nationwide efforts have been under way since Monday to identify the mystery boy who was found crying outside a gasoline station in Montoya, N. M. He was taken to Tucumcari General Hospital for treatment of the effects of an apparent beating.

Opponents Of Rigid Price Props Chop At Soil Bank Program

WASHINGTON (U)—Opponents of the rigid farm price supports which were tacked on to the new billion-dollar soil bank program opened a drive in the Senate Friday to chop them out. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP member of the Agriculture Committee and a supporter of the administration's flexible and lower farm price props, led the attack. "High rigid supports never have brought prosperity to the American farmer and never will," Aiken told the Senate. "This line of reasoning is completely false."

Excommunication Faces Backers Of Segregation

NEW ORLEANS (U)—Possible excommunication by their church and disapproval by their new governor Friday blocked the way of Catholic legislators planning to include private schools in Louisiana's segregation laws. The official newspaper of the New Orleans archdiocese in an editorial approved by Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel warned the lawmakers they may be subject to excommunication if their proposed bills became law. Incoming Gov. Earl Long pledged to continue segregation, announced, "I wouldn't attempt to tell (the Catholic Church) how to run the schools."

Despite these warnings, State Rep. E. W. Gravolet Jr., said, "We intend to go ahead with it. Definitely." Gravolet and other sponsors of the proposed legislation are Catholics in the New Orleans area. "Undoubtedly Right" "From a religious standpoint," Long said the archbishop "is undoubtedly right" in condemning segregation as morally wrong and sinful. But the incoming governor said Archbishop Rummel "is going too strong" on the issue.

"Maybe he is a little too advanced," said Long. "From a religious standpoint he is undoubtedly right. But at this time it may be the wrong time to push it. I'd hate to have his job right now."

In a pastoral letter read at all Masses of the New Orleans archdiocese Sunday, Rummel called racial segregation morally wrong and sinful and gave clear indication parochial schools would be de-

Held Two Hours—Intruders Rob Two Women

Two elderly Lincoln women were held at bay for two hours and warned not to call the police by a pair of apparently hungry housebreakers early Friday morning. The women were unharmed during their ordeal, though one of the women was grasped by the throat and threatened.

The victims were Mrs. Maude Mosher, 74, and Miss Julia Young, 80, both of 342 So. 18th. Police were told the two women were sleeping when they heard sounds of someone coming into their bedroom. On awakening, they saw the outlines of two men, one shorter than the other. Both were waving flashlights.

The intruders ordered them to remain still and not to cry out. Mrs. Mosher told police. She said after rummaging around in the apartment looking for money and valuables, the men ordered the women out of bed and told them to give up their money.

One purse yielded $3 to $3 in cash; another contained a check. In addition, the men, who the women said avoided identification by never flashing their lights in each other's faces, took a pound of bacon from the refrigerator. An upstairs neighbor, Rose Johnson, told police she and three other girls heard sounds like someone breaking into the home but feared checking the noises. Miss Johnson told police she thought one of the men was referred to as "Bill."

Police said entrance to the building was gained by breaking a basement window. Officers Find Meat The girls in the upstairs apartment said they thought the men drove away in a 1949 or 1950 dark colored automobile. Police found two to three slices of meat, not bacon, on the front porch of the home.

One of the men was described as about 35 years old, blond, near six-foot tall, and had a highly arched nose and teeth separated in the front. The other man was shorter. Search Cabinets The women said the shorter of the two apparently was in a hurry to get away from the house, but the other persisted in searching cabinets looking for valuables. Police said they thought the men were transients.

The incident occurred around midnight. The women were warned not to call police after the men left. Police got the call to investigate the incident around 2:30 a.m. The call to them was made from a neighbor's telephone since the telephone in the Mosher apartment had been ripped from the wall by the burglars.

The proprietor of an eating place told police two men came into his establishment around 2:30, but he didn't know if they were walking or driving.

Chairman Ellender (D-La.) and other advocates of the mandatory supports have been urging their adoption. All parties to the farm bill battle concede this will be the key test when the final vote comes, perhaps late next week. Aiken said he is confident the Senate will continue the flexible supports it first approved in 1954, when the Republicans were in command. As the price supports debate continued, a proposal to refund some 60 million dollars in federal gas taxes to farmers each year advanced a step. This proposal, affecting gasoline used only on farms, was recommended by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson. It already has won approval of the House and Friday the Senate Finance Committee sent it on to the Senate with minor revisions.

War Economy Aiken, using charts and other data, contended that big boosts in farm prices since 1928 had resulted from war economics. "Price supports and farm programs had nothing to do with it," he said. By continuing rigid supports after wartime demand ceased, Aiken said the government had piled up nearly 12 billion dollars in surplus commodities. Most of this was invested in surplus cotton, wheat, tobacco and dairy products, he said, with a resulting oversupply of corn and other livestock feeds from diverted acres. Disrupted "The whole Midwest farm economy, which by rights should be stable today, has been disrupted

Legion Official Sure VA Will Keep Hospital The Veterans Administration Hospital in Lincoln will remain a hospital for veterans, committee members who conferred this week at the White House implied in a telephone message to R. C. Patterson, state adjutant of the American Legion, Friday. Patterson said that members of the committee told him that there was no refutation of arguments made by Nebraskans. He said, however, that the committee had agreed to let the VA make 75 beds at the hospital available to the Air Force. The Legion adjutant said the hospital had taken care of Air Force personnel when requested in the past. However, he said, it appeared the Air Force wants a hospital in which to take care of dependents of service men. Patterson said the committee, which has not returned from Washington, appeared jubilant over their reception by presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and other officials, and the apparent acceptance of their views that the VA retain and operate the facility here. A press dispatch from Washington following the conference indicated that early consideration would be given to the views of the Nebraskans, however, no immediate decisions had been reached. In addition to representatives of the veterans' organizations, the committee consisted of Gov. Victor Anderson and John Curtis representing the Chamber of Commerce. Gov. Anderson was to have left Washington Friday, but postponed his departure until Saturday.

Nebraska's Maturing Campus

Without too much effort, Nebraskans can pick up the indistinct vista of a maturing University of Nebraska campus, thanks to one phase of a building program now getting under way. The regents Saturday were to open bids for purchase of the bulk of a $4 million bond issue to expand and to establish badly needed student facilities. Before another year construction should be well along.

First comes an addition to the Student Union estimated to cost $1,250,000. No tax funds are called for in this or for any of the other contemplated improvements—they will pay for themselves out of earnings. That addition to the Student Union is so badly needed for undergraduate activities in a building so vital to wholesome student life. Then comes a student health center on the city campus which is estimated to cost $550,000. A third impressive development calls for expenditure of half a million dollars for construction of women's residence halls on the city campus.

Out on the campus of the College of Agriculture, men's and women's dormitories will involve spending of $980,000—plus $400,000 for apartments for married students. Finally and ultimately, there is to be a small student union building on the agricultural campus which will cost $250,000.

Best of all in the planning is that these buildings have been amortized so that all of the bonds involved can be retired in a period of 17 years, or in 1973, out of earnings. One has only to close his eyes to pick up the vista of the immediate years ahead. With little effort and expenditure for landscaping on the resulting malls, the hundredth anniversary of the University of Nebraska will project a campus of beauty and usefulness.

Resolve Past Differences

Reconciliation in the divided house of Nebraska's rural electrification districts promises to be the most important order of business here next week when the 20th annual session of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association begins.

Split more than a year and a half now over question of policy and organization brought on by involvement in the general public power controversy over which of the state's major agencies shall take responsibility for the production or acquisition of electric power, the divided rurals have been making genuine efforts to regain unity. They have borne first fruit in proposed changes in the NREA's articles of incorporation and by-laws. The temper of the approaching sessions will reveal how effective have been the steps toward reunion.

Reorganization is the business of the REA's, but harmony is the business of every citizen of Nebraska. The excellent record of the state's REA's, the great good they have performed, the fine service they have rendered both Nebraska and agriculture leave no place for disharmony. They remind that of all the labors performed to initiate and develop rural electrification, stupendous as they were, none were big enough to rupture the unity of organized association. Nor is it true today that differences of opinion cannot be resolved under one roof.

As Nebraska's REA's in the past have set an example of achievement in unison a self-healing of the current rupture would be of tonic effect, a wholesome influence over the state's entire electric power picture. However, it may be resolved the state hopes the REA's at this time will return to their traditional character.

Agricultural Diversification

To most Nebraskans safflower is a strange term. Small wonder that the announcement of a demand for the culture of some 50,000 acres of it this year in the Panhandle awakened interest. With it came the revelation that crop growers in the vicinity of Sidney pioneered the crop to the extent of 15,000 acres last year with encouraging results. The promise of a new product favored by good price and demand at a time when customary crops are finding the sledding hard is good news. Safflower may be such a new crop. It is an oil producing plant desirable for livestock feed and its residual products in cake form are likewise in demand. The plant flourishes in California. Nebraska trials indicate that it will do as well in the dry land sections of this state.

So often it is heard of crops considered special to other regions that they will do well in some part of Nebraska. It is a most interesting commentary on Nebraska—a state more fitted for agricultural diversification than all the others. It is a state that ranges from relatively high to low altitudes with an unusual variety of soil, a generally long growing season, rainfall ranging from little to much. It can breed and finish its own livestock in substantial volume. It can grow every crop suited to the temperate zone. Such a state is hard to beat economically. It can diversify.

Much is said in Nebraska about diversification, a balancing of industry and commerce with agriculture. And that is highly to the point. But it is equally important to press diversification in agriculture itself, for in Nebraska there will always be an alternative to a depressed condition caused by a market decline of two or three major crops. Nebraska can always readjust.

Editorial Of The Day

Whose Money Is It?

From The Washington Post

The damaging testimony of Donald Ross before the George Subcommittee furnishes strong evidence of the need to identify the source of campaign contributions. Mr. Ross, who resigned last week as United States Attorney in Omaha because of his fringe involvement with the gas lobby, shed a good bit of light on the way in which some lobbyists work. John M. Neff, the Nebraska lawyer for the Superior Oil Co., who offered the $2,500 campaign contribution to Sen. Francis Case, prevailed on his friendship with Mr. Ross for introductions to Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska. Mr. Neff mentioned to Mr. Ross that "they" (meaning presumably his employers) would be interested in making campaign contributions of $5,000 to the two Nebraska Senators.

No doubt large amounts of money were spent on both sides of the gas fight. Lobbying against the gas bill, if it was out of bounds, also ought to be exposed in the Senate investigation. But an investigation of influences on Congress would be incomplete without an effort to trace these influences to their source. Sen. Hennings is prepared to augment his bill to amend the Corrupt Practices Act with a requirement that the real origin of political contributions be disclosed. We think it essential that this qualification be accepted. Every donor of more than $100 ought to be obligated by law, under stiff penalty of evasion, to list the actual source of the money. If honest reporting of contributions is the prime need in reform of the present debased situation, it follows that identification of sources is necessary to permit the public to judge whether contributions are improper.

Hoover (Herbert) farm program or the McNary-Haugen bill. All were devised to administer to the health of the farm people, confronted as they were with serious economic crisis. That is one of the amazing things about this man, Benson, and at least one other cabinet associate. They talk about truth and then proceed to utter what they should or must know is only half truth or untruth. It isn't healthy for this country. It is not wholesome that men occupying high responsible posts in this administration have such a little regard for the full facts. Agriculture was in trouble and plenty of trouble long before those "unsound programs" to which Mr. Benson likes to point had been conceived in the minds of those who drafted them. Bryan advocated the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 in order to lift a sick agriculture up by the bootstraps. Bryan spoke about grass growing in the streets of the cities when ruin came to the farmer. And before Bryan and after Bryan, any candid, intelligent secretary of agriculture ought to know of the struggles of rural America, yearly becoming more complicated.

Brother Benson, like Diogenes of old, started out in the quest for facts and the search for truth. He ended up, we fear, not only empty-handed but empty-headed.

Jewish Ship Owner Carries Arab Tanks

WASHINGTON — Latest wrinkle in the controversy over 18 tanks to Saudi Arabia is a question as to whether they will be received by the Arabs since they are being shipped on a Jewish-owned vessel.

Hitherto no vessels owned by Jews have been permitted in Egyptian or Arab harbors or anywhere near Egyptian or Arab waterways. The SS James Monroe on which 18 tanks are proceeding to Jeddah is chartered briefly by a Greek firm, Hellenic Lines, but is owned by the family of Jacob Michael, 120 Wall street, New York, under a complicated arrangement. The arrangement is so complicated and so round-about that it took some time to track it down.

Mr. Michael, a strong Zionist, would not make himself available to answer inquiries. Repeated calls to his office brought the reply that he was out. Calls to the Liberian embassy and the Liberian deputy maritime commissioner, Albert J. Rudick, at 261 Madison Ave., also failed to shed much light on the ownership of the vessels. Officially the ownership was registered under Seacarriers, S.A., a Panamanian firm. But Mr. Rudick said he could not go beyond that, and besides, he was distrustful of telephone calls.

The Panamanian embassy in Washington said it was equally in the dark. The James Monroe sails under a Liberian flag but is registered in Panama, thus does not have to comply with American wage and safety standards. The Panamanian embassy, however, said it did not know who owned Seacarriers, S.A., though admitting Seacarriers was a Panamanian firm.

"How do you know this company isn't going to ship behind the iron curtain?" the embassy was asked. "We don't. We leave that to you," was the reply.

MORE RUN-AROUND

After several hours of telephoning, the press relations spokesman for Jacob Michael called to say that Mr. Michael did not now own the vessel, that he had sold it, and that his attorney, Abraham Pomerantz, would speak for him.

Mr. Pomerantz stated that Mr. Michael had once owned the vessel through Seacarriers, S.A., but had sold it on March 11, 1955.

"In that case, he would have to record the sale with the Maritime Administration in Washington," Mr. Pomerantz was reminded. "That is not necessary."

"Who did he sell the ship to?" "Mr. Michael cannot reveal this. He does not wish to embarrass the other party. He has absolutely no control over the ship. He cannot say more."

Various questions were asked as to why Michael could not reveal the name of the new owner, without result.

However, the records of the Maritime Administration were conclusive. They showed that he had sold or transferred the ship only to his wife.

AEC Member Says Atomic Plan Lags

WASHINGTON — The spot news of the new testimony of Atomic Energy Commissioner Thomas E. Murray before the congressional atomic committee is striking enough.

Murray has charged that "our sweeping promises to the world concerning atomic power are in danger of going by default." He has described the United States as "off to a slow start in the race for atomic power . . . running with the field when we ought to be well out in front." He predicted we would have "only a token amount of industrial atomic power before 1959."

To meet this situation he proposed a 10-year crash program which would give this country a "commanding lead" over the Soviet Union. With it, he said, we could keep neutral nations out of the Soviet orbit for all time.

Thus the real struggle which is taking place over atomic power begins to emerge.

Chairman Lewis Strauss of the commission and his associates have tailored atomic policy to budgetary considerations, domestic affairs and the demands of the military for nuclear weapons. They believe that since this country possesses plentiful resources of fossil fuel and hydroelectric power, it can afford to go slow until cheap atomic power is assured.

Murray and his supporters see

American pre-eminence in the nuclear field as a God-given opportunity to save the world from Communist domination. They want to throw it wholeheartedly into foreign policy. Ordinary considerations, which in the absence of the Communist menace might be compelling, seem to them at this stage of the cold war absolutely irrelevant.

Murray's testimony puts the President in the position of seeming to promise more than he can deliver in his announcement that uranium supplies will be made available abroad. The testimony developed that the President's message said nothing about the "know-how" or technicians necessary to use the uranium profitably. Murray seems to think we have not got them to give.

Yet the President, with his statement, has clearly accepted in principle the Murray thesis that atomic power is a weapon in the cold war with which much can and should be done. It is understood that the President has complained that more was not being done.

Unlike his predecessor, Harry Truman, President Eisenhower does not confer with all members of the commission but has named Chairman Strauss his atomic advisor. This always has been a source of friction within the commission. (Copyright, 1956, By U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

In Step With The Sower

The hair-line is becoming more than merely the place you wash your face to. In fact, it is beginning to take in all the novel trims that Ted Sphanke can invent. The Sower is giving up his chair in the waiting line to Dr. E. A. Rogers, state director of health.

The good medic explains that the fringe around the sides and a bare spot on the top is the sign of wisdom. He points to Judge Robert Simmons and Attorney General C. S. Beck and they agree.

However, friends of Charles Timmer, a seventh grader at the Osmond elementary school, speak with the wisdom gathered by this 12-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. H. Jay Timmer, Presbyterian minister. They say it is entirely a matter of comfort.

The Sower will have to agree, having been reared in that religious faith.

Charles is a staunch advocate of the "Mohawk." He has worn it for two summers and this winter, for the first time has tried it out in cold weather. We are expecting Commissioner of Education F. B. Decker to try it out soon, as it has the endorsement of educators. The mother of Charles is a rural teacher.

Rogers, Simmons and Beck insist that Charles is taking an unfair advantage. They point out that in hair trims it is necessary to trim where something is growing. All insist that they cannot leave a patch or handful, as we Indian scalpers used to do, down the center as Charles does.

The Osmond youth will admit that the "Mohawk" is slightly on the cool side in winter, but points out that they have had an exceptionally cold winter in northeast Ne-and listened again, and finally they were sure.

"Master," said John, "we shall go with You. You have warned us that Your ideas are dangerous. Let them be so. They are worth dying for!"

Then Andrew told Jesus he had a brother he would like the Master to meet, and ran to find him.

Andrew found his older brother, Simon, washing his feet at the town fountain. Simon was a tall, bulging man with huge shoulders. His eyes were bright and fierce, and his face was cross and tired.

"Simon! John and I have found Him! And I ran all the way to tell you about Him!"

"You have found him?" "We have found a Messenger of God."

Simon pulled his beard and wrinkled his freckled nose. "You two are getting sillier all the time," he growled. "First you run after John the Baptist. You think he's the one. Then he tells you he is not. Now it's someone else!"

"Come and see," said Andrew. Simon dried his enormous toes. "I will go and see."

It was twilight when the two brothers came to the hut where John still sat listening to Jesus. Jesus stood and embraced Simon. "You are Simon, son of Jona! But you shall be called Peter."

The first three were there, the first of twelve men who would be the Lord's disciples. They, and Jesus too, were from Galilee, and they started now to walk with Him back to that land. They had hardly begun the journey north when their number began to grow.

The first to join them was a young man named Philip whom they found walking the same highway. Philip too was a fisherman. Just then a line of camels passed. Philip begged a ride, and hurried ahead. A few miles down he found his friend, Nathanael Bartholomew, lying under a fig tree.

"Nathanael!" called Philip. "We have found a most wonderful Teacher. He might even be the Messiah!"

Jesus waved from a distance. "Nathanael! Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you."

Nathanael blinked. He had been under the fig tree. But that was miles beyond. Jesus could not possibly have seen him!

Jesus put a friendly arm about him. "Because I said I saw you under the fig tree, you believe?" Jesus lifted His chin toward the sky, and promised: "Greater things than these you shall see."

But on that day, Nathanael saw only the face of Jesus, and knew he would follow His Master till he died.

And with His five new disciples, Jesus walked to Galilee, the first part of the long road they would all travel together.

Words and Music

Edgar, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: President Eisenhower is physically able to knock a golf ball 200 yards and to be President again. I am sure this is good news to all Americans. I am equally sure that, despite the hullabaloo by professional politicians in the GOP, the majority of voters will not forget that Ike has yet to keep a single major campaign promise, nor believe that recovery from a heart attack can make any man indispensable.

If physical fitness and strength makes presidential timber, why not elect some member of our Olympics team? Mr. Hall and his cohorts need a different song to sing, but unfortunately Ike has failed to furnish words and music. It is still the little people with the big vote who render the verdict.

SEVEN ANDERTON

Long-Time Need

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: "Haste makes waste?" Back in 1945 this writer was a member of a committee appointed by the mayor to study the library needs of post-war Lincoln. One of the significant issues at that time was a new main library building.

Again in 1951 stories appeared in the papers regarding proposals and a report made by the Library Board presenting the needs for a new main library. Last fall, early in November, I read in The Star of the presentation to the Council of a proposal for a new main library.

"This haste to the polls . . ." While it is true that the public needs to be fully informed of current needs, I do believe the issue has been a concern of many people in the community for a long time. In contrast to haste, a carefully evaluated long-time need is merely being restated at this time.

Poor Diet

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Let's face the facts. The following figures are used by the actuaries of our life insurance companies. At the age of 65, statistics show the following: 36 will be dead, 34 will be broke or dependent, five will be self-supporting, four will be well-to-do, one will be wealthy. Old people cannot eat statistics. Under our economic system, they must have some support financially.

The source of all life's sustenance comes from Mother Earth. The tillers of the soil bring it to life. Are the farmers going to join the state old-age assistance program? They are getting the same dose of prosperity as in 1929-1935 and 1940. We had plenty of surplus commodities under dry-land farming. It was a good thing we did, but we had no money to buy back surpluses.

We were tied to the Social Security Act as state charity cases back in 1940. Our economy was shut off. Earlier the pursestrings were drawn so tight that 13,000 bankers had been liquidated. The farmers' source of cash short-term loans to tide us over from crop to crop had ceased. The farmers ran up against that stone wall erected between production, processing and distribution. Each went his own way. The profit takers on their side of the stone wall hollered to high heaven, "Slow down, you farmers. You have glutted the market. No profit for us." Get the inference?

There are 65 million citizens of this country who have to have a job even to eat. I can prove by my social security card that I had to sign in order to get a job. Old age assistance, thou art a jewel in reverse.

Housing Ordinance

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: We are interested in your recent article that sets forth the difficulties of the Planning Commission in a fast-growing city like Lincoln. We note that one of the difficulties is getting a good housing ordinance. May we review some considerations relative to such an ordinance, compiled from the standpoint of a consumer?

Before the enactment of any ordinance that materially changes the status quo, we hope the Planning Commission will:

(1) Make a complete survey of available housing. We hope it will classify as substandard only those dwellings that are actually inimical to health and decency. We hope it will use proven standards whose validity has been established.

(2) Direct specific effort to increasing the number of low-cost dwellings, recognizing that $10,000 to $15,000 houses in the new developments do not help low-income families.

(a) Where improvement of apartments is indicated, make money and labor available.

(b) Foster the building of houses in the $4,000 to $7,000 class, utilizing after-hours labor of would-be owners.

(c) Refrain from closing good apartment merely because a three-apartment house is located in a two-family zone. We hold that the tenant is more important than the zone in such cases.

(3) Improve transportation facilities so that those who wish to live farther out may get back and forth more readily than they can at present.

(4) Recognize that the burden of civic improvement should be borne by the city; not arbitrarily laid upon individual property owners against their will and beyond their ability.

We hope the Planning Commission will not advocate any ordinance that will:

(1) Require low-income tenants to vacate their present quarters unless at until better housing is available at prices the tenants can afford.

(2) Make it necessary for tenants to move into more expensive quarters for lack of approved, low-cost dwellings.

(3) Inadequate the private lives of law-abiding citizens, dictating what they must buy and pay for.

(4) Require property owners to make large investments for improvement when the improvement cannot yield comparable returns for the investment.

(5) Abrogate without due process of law the right of property owners to use their property for their own benefit. Unfitness for rent and occupancy should be judged by a court of law which is established to safeguard the rights of citizens, not by a policeman, a sanitary officer, nor even by a group of citizens in the law-making department of government. In the American tradition, a law is not judged by the group that makes it.

(6) Apply arbitrary requirements in the matter of window area and floor space. We submit that such items are better regulated by the law of supply and demand.

(7) Placeard private dwellings that do not conform.

(8) Apply a dehousing law to dwellings already occupied, unless those dwellings are adjudged unfit for occupancy by due process of law.

New $1,950,000 High School Proposed For Fremont

FREMONT, Neb. (UP)—A citizen school planning committee here has given tentative approval to plans for a proposed $1,950,000 senior high school building to be submitted to Fremont voters in a bond issue proposal in the April 3 election.

The board of education has indicated it will approve the plans with minor changes.

The plans include a $65,000 swimming pool, 45 to 73 feet and a separate gymnasium for girls costing $60,000.

The total cost would include $1,750,000 for general construction of the building, $150,000 for equipment and $50,000 for site preparation, sidewalks, driveways and a parking area for 244 cars.

Consumers Delay Action On New Plant

Lincoln Star Special

COLUMBUS, Neb. — The Consumers Public Power District board of directors was unable to take any action at their regular monthly meeting Friday on the contract relative to the Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District's proposed 100,000 kilowatt plant near Lexington.

Consumer general manager R. L. Schacht reported to the board that copies of the Central Nebraska District's agreement under which new bonds will be issued have not yet been received by him.

Schacht said, "details of the contract under which Consumers would back up the NPPS purchase agreement are still under consideration by the investment bankers and the Nebraska power agencies."

Special Meet Set

Anticipating the documents will be available and will have been analyzed by the end of next week, the board has set a special meeting for March 2.

Meanwhile, approval of a long-term contract for purchase of power from the proposed plant was announced by directors of the Platte and Loup Power Districts.

Under terms of the contract approved by the Platte and Loup Districts, which make up the Nebraska Public Power system, the electricity produced by the new plant would be turned over to NPPS and delivered over NPPS transmission lines to wholesale customers, including Consumers, the rural districts, some municipalities and government installations.

Although operated by the Central district, its operation would be directed by NPPS and its output integrated into the NPPS lines serving the eastern two-thirds of Nebraska.

46 Senators Ask Boost In Old Age Assistance Pay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Forty-six senators joined Friday in introducing legislation to boost the federal share of old age assistance payments.

Sen. Long (D-La.) chief sponsor of the proposal, told the Senate it would increase monthly assistance checks to the aged by at least $5 a month, possibly $10.

These payments, designed for the needy, are distinct from the old age insurance system, which is financed by employer-employee contributions.

The average monthly payment over the nation is now $25.50. Each state fixes its own schedule, and the amounts vary widely.

Lengthy Hearings

Long said the proposed amendment to the Social Security Act would be offered first in the Finance committee, on which he serves. He said he will seek to add it to a House bill broadening the insurance benefits of the Social Security law. The committee is in the midst of lengthy hearings on this bill.

Old age assistance payments are administered under a matching formula.

Under Long's proposal, the federal government would match the first $5 of the state money with $25 of federal funds, instead of $20 as at present.

50-50 Basis

Above this initial $30, the federal government would match on a 50-50 basis all the additional state contributions up to a total of $65, instead of $55 as in the law now.

Long said the proposal would benefit all of the 2,552,000 persons now on the old age assistance roll. The additional federal cost would be about 184 million dollars a year. Washington now puts 836 million a year into the old age assistance plan.

Population Hike Will Better Lincoln Rating For Safety

Lincoln's national traffic safety rating was due to improve with a change in the city's classification, placing it in competition with towns in the 100,000 to 200,000 population class.

At the request of the Police Department, the National Safety Council listed Lincoln's population as 116,284. The city had been rated since 1950 according to a population of 98,884.

The new classification, said Police Capt. Clinton Hurd, will definitely improve the city's standing on a national scale. Instead of being at a disadvantage as one of the largest cities in a group, he said, Lincoln will now have the advantage of being one of the smaller cities in its group.

Lincoln previously competed with cities in the 50,000 to 100,000 population class. For 1955, Lincoln tied for second place in that class for traffic safety.

$1,000 Cooper Gift To Guidance Center

Meet Star Carrier Mike Heater

Mike Heater is the STAR carrier at Superior, Neb. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Heater. Mike took over his Star route last September and has been doing a nice job. In November he entered a contest and won a flash camera by getting new subscribers on his route. Again in January he won a chemistry set.

Mike is interested in chemistry and all kinds of mechanics. He and his brother Bob have a collection of over 15 model airplanes that they have built. They also like to make models of "old cars."

It is natural that they would be interested in airplanes, both the toy models and the real jobs. Mike's father is a licensed pilot and is teaching the boys about planes. Mike enjoys flying with his Dad.

Mike is 11 years old and in the fifth grade at North Ward school. He is a good student and likes arithmetic better than other studies. He plays baseball during the summer months and spends a great deal of his spare time in the city swimming pool. Mike is a fisherman and also likes to hunt. Interested in many activities, he went from Cub Scouts into Boy Scouts, and is very active in Sunday School.

Mike's parents know the value of a paper route and have set up a savings account for him in the bank. He puts part of his earnings in the savings and is also saving his money to buy a watch. He has been able to buy some of his own clothes as well as pay part of his school expenses.

Mike is one of the younger business men in Superior, but he knows the value of giving good service and his business is growing.

French Assembly Gets Birth Control Measure

PARIS (AP)—A bill to approve birth control in France was submitted to the National Assembly by a group of pro-Communist deputies.

The bill calls for abrogation of a 36-year-old law which provides for fines and imprisonment for anyone disclosing methods of averting pregnancy.

The proposal is sure to meet stiff opposition from Roman Catholic deputies.

Supreme Court Says Radar Readings Admissible As Evidence

Radar readings are admissible as evidence in speeding cases, provided the equipment is proved accurate, the State Supreme Court ruled Friday.

The ruling came in a Dodge County case which, however, the Court sent back for a new trial because of allegedly prejudicial remarks by the district judge who heard the case.

The case was brought against John M. Dietze, Omaha, a Greyhound Bus Company driver for more than 27 years.

Arrested at North Bend in March, 1955, he was charged with driving more than 60 miles an hour. Radar readings were used as evidence against him.

Dietze waived trial by jury and was fined $20 and costs, a total of $37.50.

District Judge R. A. Robinson of Fremont, who heard the case, was quoted as saying at the hearing: "In making my district, the court has observed Greyhound buses time after time have passed me going over 70 miles an hour."

The court added "maybe I should disqualify myself."

The Supreme Court commented: "Remarks of a trial judge in an action wherein a jury is waived . . . which disclose a lack of ability to consider the evidence of a party fairly and impartially are grounds for a new trial."

Other Supreme Court rulings: Dakota County — Gertrude Powell vs. A. Van Donselaar, trespass suit based on removal of a fence sent back for re-trial.

Keith County — New trial granted in damage suit of Lee Deck of Grand View, Mo., against Richard Sherlock and William J. Thomas, based on highway accident north of Ogallala in 1953, Kimball County — Dismissal upheld in suit of Francis Wolcott against Royal Drake for damages in death of Phineas Asa Wolcott in accident west of Kimball in July, 1952.

Vandals Damage Farm Home And School Bus

Vandals caused about $50 damages to the Orville Blomstrom home near Waverly and a school bus, according to a Sheriff's office report. The back door of the home was broken and screen slashed and seats in the school bus torn up. The home was not entered or property taken, the report said.

Friday Evening Bride

MRS. DALE GEISTLINGER

Lighted cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra, and arrangements of white carnations, white gladioli and snapdragons appointed the chancel of the Vine Congregational Church where the marriage of Miss Catherine Jane Fahrenbruch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Fahrenbruch, to Dale Allen Geistlinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Geistlinger, took place on Friday evening, Feb. 24. The lines of the 8 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Verne Spindell, and Mrs. P. C. Swift, who played the wedding music, also accompanied the vocal soloist, Floyd Barnett.

Miss JoAnne Fahrenbruch, as her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, was frocked in cinnamon-toned peau de soie in the afternoon mode, and completed her ensemble with a pink half-hat and pink accessories. She carried a nosegay of pink and white Frenched carnations.

James Geistlinger served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Joseph Taft Jr., of Lexington, and Everett Hilblink.

For the ceremony the bride chose an afternoon frock of pink peau de soie. Beneath the snugly fitted, elongated bodice, designed with a draped neckline and brief sleeves, the skirt was extremely bouffant. With her costume she wore a small pink hat and she carried a white Bible marked with a corsage of white

MORE guests, more homecomers, more events for the future, more of everything this morning — The day is off to a good start with news of the arrival of Mrs. Sally Shannon (Sally Caldwell) of Reno, Nev., who arrived in town early Saturday morning for a visit with Lincoln friends Mrs. Shannon will remain here for several days before going on to New York City where she plans to spend several months and where she will see her brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Hanson.

SOME of our winter vacationists will be returning home next week — Wednesday will find Mrs. Lyle Holland back in town after a three weeks stay in California —

And home on Thursday will be Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rogers who have been spending the past month in California. The early part of the holiday was spent in Los Angeles and from there Mr. and Mrs. Rogers went on to Palm Springs.

Three New Residents

Lincoln welcomed a new family early this month — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Newman and their two young daughters, who arrived from Madison, Wis., and who now are residing at 2318 So. 18th.

We interrupted the routine of the house hold — nap time for the small fry — long enough to persuade Mrs. Newman and her daughters Margot (on her mother's lap), and Katharine, to pose for a picture which they did in a most gracious manner.

NREA Wives To Hold Convention

Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 26, 27 and 28, are the convention dates for the wives of the members of the Nebraska Rural Electrification Association who will make Hotel Lincoln their headquarters.

Mrs. Paul Ogier of Wallace, chairman; and Mrs. John M. Clema, co-chairman will be assisted by a group of official hostesses which includes Mrs. Claude Thurber, Edgar; Mrs. Ray Lowery, Oak; Mrs. Lyle Marotz, Hoskins; Mrs. Frank Haupton, Broken Bow; Mrs. Norval Diehl, Stratton; Mrs. Raymond Lindahl, Newman Grove; Mrs. Carl Lane, Stamford and Mrs. W. B. Furman, Marsland.

Registration for the three-day meeting will begin at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and Sunday evening the time will be devoted to the showing of films, and colored slides. Tables also will be placed for cards.

Mrs. Ogier will preside at the Monday luncheon, to be held in the Garden Room at Hotel Lincoln, at which the invocation will be given by Mrs. Ray Smiley of Milford. A program of music will be presented by the Lincoln High School Girls Octette which includes Lucy Webster, Marianne Hansen, Martha Crocker, Sally Williams, Jean Fell, Malou Parrott, Connie Jones, and Donna Sinecek. Miss Dorothea Gore will direct the octette and Sara Grabenstein is the accompanist.

Highlighting the afternoon program will be Mrs. Frank Schaaf of Omaha who will speak on "Gifts to Make." She has appeared on many TV and radio programs, and has an outstanding program planned.

Activities open Tuesday morning with an Early Bird breakfast, followed by a laundry demonstration by Miss Shirley Posson.

The business meeting also is scheduled for Tuesday morning when Mrs. Paul Ogier will preside with Mrs. Claude Thurber serving as secretary. At this session Mrs. H. E. Smith of Cambridge will report on the 19th annual NREA meeting, and Mrs. Lyle Marotz of Hoskins will report on the semi-annual NREA meeting. Mrs. Wilbert Calvin of Ord will tell of the regional National Rural Electric Co-operative Association meeting, and Mrs. George Buchta of Osceola will report on the National REA meeting.

There also will be a report from the nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Ogier, Wallace; Mrs. Ray Lowery, Oak; Mrs. Roy Miller, Palisade, and election of officers will follow.

Julian Lyons will be the featured speaker on the Tuesday program. Mr. Lyons subject is "Hat Chat" and he will feature Easter Bonnets.

Mrs. Ogier will again be presiding at the luncheon and Mrs. Ray Kellenberger of Anselmo will give the invocation. Music for the afternoon will be furnished by the "Triple Trio" of Northeast High School under the direction of Mrs. Velma Snook. Members of the trio are: Lereen DeBored, Geri Keys, Carol Peterson, Marjorie York, Phyllis Rolofson, Judy Simmons, Mary Lou Tangeman, Burdette Pharrp, Carol Rayn; accompanist, Nancy Underwood.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. TUTORS DISTRICT 'B' CHAMPIONS

University High Hands Valley 74-59 Whipping

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

WAHOO—University High won the Class B district basketball championship here Friday night, beating Valley 74-59 with a blazing fast break offense.

University High thus regained the Wahoo district title it won as Teachers in 1954. It was the third straight district championship for the school.

Sophomore Jim Hoge hit 12 field goals to lead the Uni High drive. Marvin Bauer and Bill Hunsaker got 18 points each.

Uni High took the lead late in the spirited first quarter. Mel Growcock scored 11 of his 19 points in the first period to keep Valley on top most of the way.

With 30 seconds left in the first quarter Hunsaker hit a jump shot and Uni High was ahead to stay.

From then on a combination of fast break plays and Hoge's shots from the corner kept the Tutors rolling. They led, 36-28 at half-time but by the end of the third quarter it was 60-47.

Valley pulled within 10 points at 62-52 when Growcock made two tree throws midway in the final period. The Tutors used a semi-stall to stay out of danger the rest of the way.

Dick Shapland and John Olson rebounded well for the tutors before fouling out in the fourth period. Bauer, in addition to scoring 13 points, sparkled as a playmaker.

An estimated 600 watched the finals in the Wahoo High gym.

Rockets Rip Boys Town; Hester High

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Northeast rang down the curtain on its regular basketball season Friday night with a convincing victory over Boys Town, 58-39, at the packed Rocket gym.

Rudy Stoehr and Wayne Hester sparked Ed Johnson's Black and White club to a 14-8 first-quarter margin and the Rockets were never headed.

Boys Town trailed 28-12 at the half and then outscored Northeast 15-10 in the third quarter to cut the margin to 11 points, 38-27, at the three-quarter mark.

But Northeast's superiority told effectively in the final frame.

It looked like the Cowboys might be on the trail of a rally when Duane Steffen took over for the Rockets and canned three quick buckets, two from the side and a jumper.

That made it 44-29 and broke the Boys Town back.

Mike Owens and Bob Maddux teamed to narrow the gap to 11 points midway through the quarter but that was as close as the Cowboys could get.

Hester Returns

Hester, carrying four fouls, returned to the game with five minutes to play and got four free throws to give him 20 for the night. And Stoehr dunked in three baskets in the final four minutes to complete the rout.

Stoehr wound up with 18 points, while Steffen got 12. These two collected 14 of Northeast's 20 points during the crushing last-period attack.

Owens led the Cowboys' scoring with 13, three field goals and seven gift shots.

In addition to being the game's top-scorer, Hester was a bear off the boards and was a leader in the Rockets' tight defense which didn't give the visitors many good shots.

The win gave Northeast an 11-4 record, the best Rocket season since 1953.

Phog Allen's Jayhawks Invade Coliseum Tonight

By DON BRYANT
Sports Editor, The Star

Dr. Phog Allen and his Kansas Jayhawks invade the University of Nebraska Coliseum Saturday night for a tussle with the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

Allen will be coaching his 1,001st basketball game and the Huskers will be trying to do the same thing Oklahoma did when the Jayhawks tried to give Phog a win in his 1,000th contest—beat the Kansans.

And the Cornhuskers will also be trying to play top basketball for the entire game—in other words, maintain poise for 40 minutes instead of 30.

The Jayhawks thought they would present the good doctor with his prize when they met cellar-dwelling Oklahoma last week, but the Sooners spoiled the party with a 69-68 victory.

So the Lawrence gang aims to turn the trick in Lincoln.

Whether or not they are successful will very likely depend on the Huskers' ability to keep cool when the pressure is on.

Several times this season Nebraska has had a lead or trailed by only a few points and then folded. Coach Jerry Bush calls it "lack of poise" and is trying to strengthen the Huskers' confidence in themselves.

When Nebraska played at Lawrence the Jayhawks won 80-53, the only contest Phog's troops have won since Dallas Dobbs was declared ineligible. With the advantage of the home court—and an extra portion of "poise"—the Bush crew should be able to give Kansas a long evening and keep Allen waiting.

Latest statistics reveal that Rex Ekwall, Holmesville junior, continues to lead the scoring chart with a 14.0 average. He has tallied 238 points in 17 contests.

The starting lineups for Saturday night's game:

A near-capacity crowd of an estimated 1,000 watched the Links take a 10-1 lead before the visiting Class A club could score from the floor.

And that was the story of the game. Although the McCook players cast again and again, it was difficult finding the range that kept them in real trouble all evening.

At the half the Links were on the top end of a 37-21 score, and the count kept mounting steadily. Near the end of the third period the Links were ahead by 20 points, 53-33.

In the last quarter the action slowed as both coaches, Lyle Weidman of Lincoln and Joe Seger of McCook, flooded the game with reserves.

Dan Young was McCook's high-point man with 13.

HASTINGS — Wesleyan bottled up Hilly Beck, Hastings' court ace, but four other Broncs managed double-figure scores and boosted Hastings to a 87-68 victory over the Plattsmen.

The win clinched a tie in the NCC for Hastings. The Broncs now have an 11-2 mark, with a home contest with Kearney remaining on the slate. Chadron still has a chance to gain a tie, with an 11-3 record.

The Broncs grabbed an early lead and led at the half, 55-34. The Wesleyan defense limited the talented Beck to a meager eight points, but four other Broncs cashed in on the opportunity.

Tom Osborne hit 16, Fay Dunbar 15, Jim Brockhaus 14 and Gene Fisher 12 to pace the Hastings attack.

Foster McGuire, closing out his collegiate career, led Wesleyan with 19 points. Glen Reed notched 15.

Fremont Trips Scottsbluff For Big 10 Crown

FREMONT — Coach My Draemel's Fremont Tigers captured the Big 10 championship by upsetting Scottsbluff's strong quintet, 58-47, here Friday night.

Mike Isenem, Fremont's 6-3 center, established an all-time Fremont individual scoring mark with 27 points. Bob Rupp of Scottsbluff duplicated the Iseman total as he kept Bearcats in the game through the first three quarters.

The nip and tuck battle gave way to the Tigers late in the third period when Scottsbluff's big Chuck Halstead fouled out. The loss hurt the western five on defense particularly. The score was tied, 25-25, at the half.

Both clubs entered the game with identical 4-0 conference records. Fremont was the Eastern division champion while the Bearcats had captured the West division. Fremont's overall record is now 12-4 while the defeat was only the third of the year for Scottsbluff.

Mass 1-Hour Work Stoppage By All U.S. Negroes Planned

Segregation Protest Is Set For March 28

NEW YORK (AP)—A mass work stoppage of every Negro in the nation March 28 was called for Friday in support of the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycott. It would last one hour.

The plan was described as a forerunner to a possible "national Mahatma Gandhi-type movement."

The late Indian leader made famous a passive resistance program of fasting and nonviolent opposition to British rule.

A spokesman said prolonged national work stoppages and mass fasting by the nation's Negroes were possibilities if the Alabama racial crisis is not resolved.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), Negro pastor of a 15,000-member New York congregation, said an emergency meeting of Negro church leaders agreed on a day of prayer March 28 climaxed by the brief work stoppage.

Members of all races and faiths in the nation will be urged to join with the Negro demonstrators.

Deliverance Day
It would be designated "National Deliverance Day of Prayer," with no Negro of any age attending school or working between 2 and 3 p.m. A proposed local climax to the demonstration would be a mass meeting in Madison Square Garden.

As a preliminary, one-hour prayer sessions will be held in Negro churches starting next week and mass meetings will be held in key Negro churches.

Working full time on the planned March 28 demonstrations is the Rev. O. D. Dempsey of the Baptist Ministers' Conference of Greater New York.

Walk To Work
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Shunning rides, Negroes in uncounted numbers walked the streets of Montgomery Friday to demonstrate their continued protest against segregation on city buses.

They trudged to work through a drizzling rain in response to an appeal from their leaders for a mass 24-hour pilgrimage on foot to prove their willingness to walk if necessary to carry on their 11-week-old bus boycott.

Ninety of them walked to the courthouse for arraignment on antiboycott indictments returned by a grand jury Tuesday. They all pleaded innocent and their trials were set to start March 19.

A court officer said 10 or more warrants are outstanding, bringing the total number of defendants to 100.

Demurrers Filed

Defense attorneys at the same time filed demurrers contesting the indictments which charged violation of Alabama's law against "illegal" boycotting. Maximum penalty under the law is six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Circuit Judge Eugene Carter withheld a ruling on the demurrers which said, in effect, that the state has failed to make out a case even if the facts alleged in the indictments are true.

Meanwhile, at the Alabama Capitol, Gov. James E. Folsom won support from a group of newspaper editors and publishers and radio and television broadcasters for a proposed biracial commission to settle differences between the white and Negro races.

Folsom called the conference to seek a program of resolving racial disputes without violence. Approximately 75 newspapermen and radio and TV broadcasters attended the meeting.

U.S. Silver Bars Unearthed

F. D. Salmon of Wakefield, left, a well driller in Nebraska since 1914, examines two silver bars unearthed by Clyde Harmon of Scottsbluff, right, when he was drilling a well on the Arlin Springer ranch north of Mitchell. One of the bars has "US" stamped on it. Harmon said he asked Springer if he wanted him to search for more but Springer told him no, that he'd rather leave the well undisturbed. (Star Staff Photo.)

Physician Says:

IKE 'MIGHT BE SAFER' IF HE RUNS

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower's White House doctor said Friday so far as the chief executive's health is concerned he "might be safer" serving a second term than he was before his heart attack.

But the physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, said he has "no impression" as to whether Eisenhower actually will bid for reelection.

Snyder did not elaborate on his remark that Eisenhower "might be safer" serving another term. He apparently meant, however, that any man who has suffered a heart attack can be expected to take greater care in the future to safeguard his health.

The President's physicians obviously are keeping even closer tabs on his condition than before his attack. Snyder pronounced the President "in very good shape" physically after 10 days of golf and hunting in a region of south Georgia.

98th Bomber Wing Homecoming Held; 200 Wives Attend

More than 200 Air Force wives were their best party dresses to celebrate the homecoming of their husbands and the 98th bomber wing at a local restaurant Friday night.

The women had been separated from their airmen for three months during a temporary duty of the wing at the Lakenheath Royal Air Force Station in England.

Base Commander General Claude Putnam told the homecoming crowd, "The ladies should be real proud of their men."

He said the deployment and redeployment of men was excellent. And the general added that he had received official commendation from his superiors for the operation.

Commander of the 98th Wing, Col. W. F. Colman, welcomed the wing "from a very successful temporary duty." He also welcomed 50 new officers and their wives who reported here to the wing while it was absent.

"We should give all the applause to the wives," he said.

Sidney Armory Bids To Be Opened Mar. 27
Bids will be opened March 27 on a new National Guard armory at Sidney, Maj. Gen. Guy Henginger said Friday.

The one-story brick structure will be of standard design, and is estimated to cost about $185,000.

After an inspection with some of the Board operated institutions and talks with institution heads, he lauded operation of the institutions and their superintendents.

The superintendents, he said, "are comparatively young men with ambitions to do good jobs for the state."

Low Bidders For Four New State Buildings Named

The buildings will house Safety Patrol headquarters for the four cities as well as Highway Department offices.

The sites, apparent low bidders, and the amounts:

Norfolk — Oakes Lumber Co., Salem, $54,160.
McCook — Oakes Lumber Co., $55,280.

North Platte — Musgrove Construction Co., North Platte, $70,140.
Grand Island — Fast Construction Co., Hastings, $59,978.

State Engineer L. N. Ress said the number of bids received was gratifying.

Actress Ekberg Takes Icy View Of Italy's Film Beauties

... Disputes Lollobrigida's Measurement Claims

By EMILY BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Swedish actress Anita Ekberg returned to Hollywood this week with a very icy view of smouldering Italian film beauties.

Anita, who has been making movies in Europe for the past six months, knocked some of Italy's most famous curves into the verbal ashcan.

"Gina Lollobrigida," she announced, "is a very bad actress, with a dull kind of prettiness that after two minutes becomes downright ugly."

"She has," the Swedish pastry asserted, "that round baby face that's too heavily made up and she doesn't have the bust measurements she claims she has."

Anita explained that she was speaking freely because Gina had made some uncomplimentary remarks about her when she (Anita) was in Rome recently.

A Jab at Anna

As for Anna Magnani, the Scandinavian glamor gal thinks she's a great actress in "that fiery-type role she always plays."

"But I doubt," she added, "if she could do anything else."

Anita, a 5-foot, 8½-inch tall beauty with a mane of hair that looks like a blonde Niagara Falls, sprawled luxuriously in her suite at the Bel-Air Hotel, a safe 6,000 miles or so from the jealousies of temperamental Italian actresses.

While her tiny French poodle raced around the room, the Ekberg readily admitted there's one Roman beauty she likes very much. "Sophia Loren," she said, "is completely different from Lollobrigida. She has life in her face. She's very sexy. She's got what it takes."

Anita doesn't dig Italian actresses, but is heartily in favor of British actors—one in particular. He's handsome Anthony Steel, a cross between Clark Gable and Sir Laurence Olivier who now qualifies as Miss Ekberg's very best boy friend.

All Over The Place

Photos of Anita's new flame were all over the place, including one glamor-encased in a solid silver frame.

Steel, who has succeeded Frank Sinatra in Anita's affections, may be No. 1 on her list, but the curvy Swede still flashes that 15-carat diamond that she's worn for the past two years. It's "a gift from a friend."

The actress, who went to Europe a starlet and came back a star, is lined up for two more major films and she rightfully concludes she's got the skeptics convinced that she's more than "just a sexy dame."

"I can carry on a conversation," she snapped. "I can be amusing. Why, I've even got common sense—AND a bustline."

Bike Registration Underway At 7 City Fire Stations

Permanent registration of bicycles in the city is underway at Lincoln's seven fire stations.

City officials are urging all bike riders get their vehicles registered as soon as possible under the simplified system of permanent registration.

Only a change in ownership or the purchase of a new bicycle will require a new license tag.

The licensing program, along with a safety inspection of all bicycles, formally was carried out by the Police Department at the different schools. This now has been dropped in favor of the new system.

The Police Department no longer will issue the tags.

Minimum Truck Shipment Rate Increase Under Advisement

The State Railway Commission late Friday took under advisement the request by certain operators that the Commission vacate its Dec. 20 order increasing the rate on minimum truck shipments.

Chairman Joseph Brown indicated the Commission would strive for an early decision.

"We want to take enough time to study the matter, but we'll not sit on it," he commented.

The December order raised the rate on small shipments going less than 50 miles to $1.50. The new rate for distances over 50 miles is $3.

The old rate on minimum shipments was $1.38.

Ask Order Dismissed

Max Harding, counsel for 37 truckers asking that the December order be set aside, told the commission in oral argument Friday that "Almost everybody is agreed that $1.38 perhaps wasn't a compensatory rate."

He promised to submit a petition proposing some other rate, if the Commission should set aside the December order.

Harding, from Lincoln, said shippers are diverting their business to the railroads, where the present minimum is $1.61.

C. J. Burrill, traffic manager for the Omaha Chamber of Commerce, said the railroads are not bound by the theory that in every shipment there must be a profit.

"They are willing to take the good with the bad," he asserted.

J. M. Emmert, Omaha, counsel for Midwest Implement Dealers, said they prefer to ship by motor carrier. But under the present schedule of minimum rates, he said, the percentage of business going to the trucks has been reduced to absurdity.

And the "whole goods" are following the small items to another mode of transportation, he added.

Jack Devoe, counsel for the Nebraska Motor Carriers Association which asked for the increase granted in December, told the Commission:

"You are going to have to decide how much the motor carrier is going to subsidize minimum shipments."

Referring to the position of western Nebraska, he added: "Why should Nebraska shippers subsidize Omaha shipments because the customer can get it cheaper out of Denver, only half as far away?"

James Ryan, also appearing for the N.M.C.A., said there is no evidence now to refute that offered last fall to the effect that operating costs are higher because of higher priced labor, fuel, equipment, and higher taxes and license fees.
